RVC Board Policy 4:10.170

Acceptable Use for Information Technology Systems – Students

Student access to the College's Information Technology ("IT") resources (including, without limitation, network, internet, computer equipment, servers, computer applications, and phone systems) is a privilege. The use of this technology is intended to support the mission of the College and is to be used for College related activities for which they were intended.

Students may use the College's IT resources, subject to the limitations of applicable state and federal laws as well as Board Policies 2:30.020 and 2:30.030 and related procedures.

The College reserves the right to extend, limit, restrict or deny IT privileges and access to its IT resources to any student.
